EPA is committed to working closely with response agencies and state and local officials to ensure the safety of citizens, respond to concerns and to evaluate impact to water contaminated by the Gold King Mine Release. EPA is sharing information as quickly as possible with the public as experts work to evaluate any effects the spill may have on drinking water, public health, agriculture, fish and wildlife. Please see our website for the latest information: <http://www2.epa.gov/region8/gold-king-mine-release-emergency-response>
Regular updates will be posted as they are available.

Comments: So, how is the EPA going to be held accountable for the disaster they caused on the Animas river in Colorado? The EPA needs to explain how this happened, how it will prevent this from happening in the future and the individuals that caused this disaster need to be terminated. And what can and/or will be done to fix the damages and who is going to fund the cleanup?
